

SALT LAKE DAILY HERALD

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 23, 1880.

THE DAILY HERALD is published every morning, Monday excepted, at Salt Lake City, by the HERALD PRINTING AND PUBLISHING COMPANY. Subscription price $10.00 per annum, postage included; parts of a year at the same rate. To weekly subscribers, collection made by carriers, twenty-five cents a week.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY HERALD is published every Wednesday and Saturday morning, at $4.00 a year, postage included; parts of a year at the same rate.

In London, on Thursday, bar silver was quoted at 52 1/4 per ounce.

THE MILLIONAIRE banker and member of Congress, Levi F. Morton, smokes 60 cigars. Young men who get $5 a week need not follow his example however.

THE MAINE fusionists are gradually but certainly losing courage. Their legislature finds itself in a sad plight—without a hall in which to meet, without a quorum and without money. There is no wonder that some of the members are anxious to throw up the sponge and go out of sight, when the party will be called upon to bear the odium that always attaches to a political organization that attempts to perpetrate a fraud and fails.

It is said that an arrangement has been entered into with Oursay and his fellow Utah delegates whereby one band of the Colorado Utes is to be removed to Grand River Valley, while the White River fellows, those who murdered Agent Meeker and ambushed Major Thornburgh, are to be conveyed to the Uintah Agency, this territory. The people of Summit and Wasatch Counties have the right to protest against this proposed quartering of a lawless band within firing distance of the frontier settlements. If government cannot prevent outbreaks and massacres by Indians in Colorado, it certainly cannot do so in this territory. The people of Utah have as good right to ask protection as the Coloradans, and they ought not to submit to the contemplated imposition without first at least making their objections known.

SOME PERSONS express fear that the Senate will not confirm the nomination of Gen. Murray to be governor of this territory, and say the delay is ominous. So far there should be no cause for alarm or even anxiety in the matter, as it is not often that nominations are confirmed the same week in which they are sent to the Senate. The confirmation sometimes is very prompt, when it is regarded as a compliment to the nominee. Chief Justice Hunter's nomination was confirmed on the day it was made, and we believe without the usual reference to a committee; but that was an exceptional instance and was due to the personal friendship for the Chief Justice of Judge Thurman and other leading senators, whose recommendation was sufficient to satisfy the Senate as to the fitness of the appointment. Our late secretary, Mr. Luckey, was nominated on January 8th, but was not confirmed until the 15th of February. Two weeks passed between the nomination and confirmation of the late receiver of the land office, Hon. Barbour Lewis, and yet Judge Lewis had been a member of Congress. There was just a week between the nomination and confirmation of Secretary Thomas. Should General Murray's nomination be unconfirmed ten days hence, it may be considered that the Senate would prefer another man for the governorship of Utah, though, even then, the approval of the appointment would not be improbable.

QUERIES

Before finally passing the bill for changing the time of holding the general election in this territory to the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, the Legislature ought to understand what it is doing, and consider well whether it wants to make the proposed change. By congressional enactment the delegate to Congress must be chosen on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and at such election United States marshals and supervisors have the right, under certain circumstances, to interfere. We already know what that interference may mean, if the marshal happens to be a rank partisan or a reckless, incompetent person, the disgraceful and bloody row of six years ago being fresh in the minds of the public. The occasion might again arise when some hot-headed, blustering and over-officious marshal would attempt a repetition of that affair. Do the people want all of their elections interfered with as that was? Would it not be better to confine the much-diluted interference to the delegate election, at least until there is a change in the political condition of the territory? The chief reason for desiring the proposed change is to avoid the expense of one election; but is the cost of greater moment to the people than the fact of having quiet, peaceful elections for local officers? It is possible that we may always have marshals who know how to behave, and who have some regard for and appreciation of the people's rights; but the risk had better not be run. The good men in federal offices in the territory have been the exception and not the rule, and we see no reason to expect a very great change in the manner of making these appointments. The people can pay the cost of the extra election, but they cannot afford to have their ballot boxes run the risk of falling into the hands of some irresponsible fellow, their avowed enemy, who may happen, through the influence of relatives or friends, or accident of any kind, happen to get into the United States marshals office of the territory.

THE PEOPLE'S PRIMARIES.

The ward caucus, or meetings for the selection of delegates to the coming municipal convention, for nominating persons to fill the city offices during the coming two years, will be held next Monday evening. These preliminary meetings should be attended by every person interested in the good government of the city, for at the primaries the tickets ought to be practically made up. In those all the people have the right to be heard and to take a hand in the selection of persons to guard and look after their interests in the management of the municipal affairs. Who shall be mayor, aldermen, councilors, marshal, assessor, collector, recorder, treasurer, etc., of Salt Lake is of vastly more importance to the residents and taxpayers of the city than who shall be president of the United States or which political party hold the greater power in congress. So far as any local community is concerned, it makes very little difference whether a Hayes or a Tilden is president, or whether the democrats or republicans are a majority of the national legislature; but it is of consequence whether the local officials, from mayor down to the most humble policeman, are capable and honest, or incompetent and dishonest. The fraud in the White House concerns the Salt Lake City resident a good deal less than the municipal dogcatcher. A livelier interest should be taken in the local elections and the arrangement of tickets than has been in the past. Where everybody leaves the work to be done by somebody else little may be expected to be accomplished, and the job is very likely to be botched. If a taxpayer is dissatisfied with the alderman or councilors from his ward, or displeased with the manner in which the municipal government is administered, his duty is to attend the primaries, and there designate and work for the nomination of other men, and proclaim against what he considers wrong in the city management. It happens that election matters here are different from those elsewhere. Here a place on the People's ticket is equivalent to the election of the candidate. For this reason the greater concern should be manifested by the people in the primaries in the selection of delegates to the nominating convention, and in giving proper instructions to the ward representatives.

There never was a time when it stood the people more in hand than now to interest themselves in the making up of the city government. The city is growing rapidly, its expenses are constantly increasing, improvements that will cost money are required to be made, and what is of immediate moment to everybody, it looks as if the city revenue from taxation would necessarily have to be increased. Wise and efficient men, possessing honesty, integrity and a proper degree of caution, are needed in the Council and in all departments of the municipal government. The new administration will be called upon to exercise a wise discretion in the expenditure of the public funds, to guard against extravagance, and at the same time answer so far as possible the large demands that will be made upon it for improvements because of the increasing population, growth of the town, and the consequent new and expensive wants of the place. In the selection of nominees for the various offices, the wisdom, financial ability and good judgment of candidates ought to be taken into consideration, more than personal friendships. Choose men whose interests are identical with those of the people generally, who are individually interested in the proper administration of the municipal government.

A YOUNG man named Ingersoll worked on the Tribune a few days, then went out on the Union Pacific and entered upon a systematic course of swindling. He is now in jail, and the penitentiary is said to loom up before him. Poor fellow! He did not know the sad consequences of accepting that temporary "sit" on our morning contemporary any more than the unfortunate fop can realize in advance that if he drinks some of the whisky set before him in a cheap groggery the inevitable result is that he will go off and steal something or commit murder. In this world the snare set for the feet of youth are many, and expertly hidden, and the paths leading to destruction are frequent.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

He Knows Logan.

Washington, 22.—During a debate in the House on the bank reserves bill, Weaver made a sharp speech, with some cutting remarks respecting Logan, who recently, in the Senate, alluded lightly to Weaver's bill to pay soldiers the difference between gold and greenbacks at the time of the war. He said it was to be expected that the man who had voted for the bank salary grab and got $3,200 in his pocket, would be expected to doing justice to the soldiers. Whitthorn, Pawley, Keiler and others also spoke on the subject.

Edison's French Critics.

New York, 22.—A special from Paris gives the views of a number of French electricians on the Edison light. Wilfred De Fonville said the onslaught of Count De Moncel on Edison excited no attention whatever. De Moncel is not a member of the institute, and can't be, never having made any scientific discovery; reported as original work. He has merely written a number of reports on electricity. De Fonville says Edison's work will be appreciated in future ages when the names of critics have been long buried in oblivion. Jean Baptiste Dumas said his impression on reading of Edison's discovery was one of incredulity, but he now sees no real impossibility in the thing. Crookes said he did not believe the homeliness of Edison could last for any length of time. M. Fontaine, president of the Syndicate Electrique, believes Edison has made an important advance in electric light.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

SENATE.

Washington, 22.—Morgan offered a resolution which was adopted, directing the secretary of the interior to furnish the Senate any information in the interior department in answer to the following inquiries: What grants of public lands made by acts of Congress to railroad companies, or to states or territories in aid of such companies, remain incomplete by reason of the failure of grantees or beneficiaries to comply with the terms of such grants? In such case, if any, where there has been partial compliance with the terms or conditions of grants, to what extent has there been such compliance, and to what extent is there just cause for declaring the forfeiture of grants, and what reasons of justice, equity or public faith or public policy are there why Congress should abstain from declaring such grants forfeited in whole or in part? In cases where states or companies to which land grants have been made for the benefit of railroads and where just cause of forfeiture exists and where bona fide conveyances have been made to purchasers, what proportion, as near as may be, of the lands so granted has been sold to such purchasers, and what further legislation, if any, is necessary to secure to such persons their full equitable rights to such lands.

Adopted. Teller offered a resolution, calling on the secretary of the interior to inform the Senate whether any member of the board of Indian commissioners had become interested in Indian contracts. Adopted. On motion of Cameron, of Pennsylvania, it was resolved, yeas 31, nays 21, that when the Senate adjourns, today, it will be to meet on Monday. The Bayard resolution was taken up and Coke made a speech thereon. Coke said this was a very different question from the endorsement of the original issue of treasury notes. Whatever might be thought of the policy of issuing greenbacks they had been issued, pronounced constitutional and formed for many years the principal part of our currency. They were no more questionable than other results of the greenback war. As a part of the public debt guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, he claimed that this was a movement in the interest of national banks, and said the banks can get this resolution passed they can double their issue. This is a great stake they are playing for. He thought there was a joint movement of some corporations to entirely demonetize silver, so we could have only bank notes and gold. After executive session, adjourned.

HOUSE.

Washington, 22.—After some miscellaneous business, consideration was resumed of the bank reserve, and the demand for the previous question was seconded—100 to 48. The main question was then ordered and the hour's debate began. At the close of the discussion an amendment (only one to be voted upon) requiring banks to keep their coin reserves in their own vaults, was rejected—33 to 79. The question recurred on engrossing and the third reading of the bill. On a division the vote stood 33 to 140, and the yeas and nays were ordered. This vote resulted, yeas 79, nays 153, and the bill was killed. The House then went into committee on revision of the rules. Frye, in the course of a speech referred to the salary grab, which led to a remark from Cox of New York: "I did not vote for it, and did not take the money, if you are looking at me." Frye, "I think the gentlemen wanted it."

Cox, "I made the only speech against it. Be very just, because making is in English." Frye, "Maine was in trouble a little while ago."

Frye and Cox had an amusing passage, in which Cox alluded to Garcelon, Frye's brother-in-law, in a manner that caused continuous laughter in the House. Cox took occasion to say, in response to Horner's recent humorous speech at his (Cox) expense, that Horner should not twist him of his wits. The Constitution required a man to be of certain age before becoming a representative, but it was not necessary that he be two yards long and two yards in girth. His constituents were large men and fighting men and never thought that a member was fitful, that most meant manhood, or that layers of hard over abdominal muscles made Gladstones or Disraelis. Shakespeare said flesh and frailty went together. Were he to write an epitaph, he would write it thus: "Here lies a member from the Sweet Singer of Michigan and from Lord Byron: 'Here lies the body of Congressman Horner, his grease (grease) but living grease no more.'"

Tucker moved that Horner be allowed fifteen minutes to answer Cox to-morrow. Horner said he would go under the five-minute rule, that would finish the job. The committee rose and the house adjourned.

Proposed Increase of the German Army.

Berlin, 22.—A bill has been presented in the Bundestag, proposing an addition of eleven new regiments of infantry and two of artillery, and one battalion of pioneers to the German army; one regiment of infantry to be Bavarian, two Saxon, the rest Prussian. The bill also proposes an addition of thirty-two field batteries to the artillery force. The contemplated changes would entail a permanent yearly outlay of 17,000,000 marks and a primary expenditure of 27,000,000 marks.

Perfectly Honest.

Denver, Col., 22.—B. F. Kennedy, proprietor of Allegheny County, Pa., concerning whom a dispatch was sent out from Philadelphia, giving currency to the rumor that he had defrauded with a woman of bad repute, arrived at Denver, to-night, and says there is no truth in the report. He is ready to be taken back whenever he is wanted, but expects to return voluntarily as soon as he can visit Leadville. He thinks the false report was circulated to injure him politically.

Latest from Ireland.

London, 22.—The Duchess of Marlborough fund now amounts to £28,500. The duchess has issued a circular to the clergy of England appealing for aid. David and Brennan have been served with writs of habeas corpus to appear before the court of queen's bench on or before Monday next, and stating that if they decline writs will be issued for their arrest. This is in consequence of David and Brennan not having yet returned their appearance before the queen's bench.

The joint assembly at Jackson, Miss., elected J. G. George, senator,

GRANT AT HAVANA.

Havana, 22.—The steamer Admiral arrived this morning, having on board General and Mrs. Grant, Colonel Fred. Grant and his wife, General Phil. Sheridan and wife and two young ladies. As the Admiral entered the port a small steamer belonging to the navy department, and carrying General Arias, civil governor of the Province of Havana and confidential adjutant of Captain General Blanco, several staff officers, Henry Hall, United States consul, and a number of American citizens, among them General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant, but that he hoped to arrive before the party took their leave. Gen. Grant replied that he would be happy to meet General Blanco. The whole party, including General Webb, proceeded to meet the Admiral, which they boarded. General Arias then tendered General Grant the hospitalities of the city and an abode in the palace, and said Captain General Blanco expressed his regret at not being at the city to welcome General Grant